DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is responsive to the Amendment filed on 31 January 2007. Claim 20 has been amended. Claims 1-19 have been withdrawn as non-elected claims. No new claims have been added. Claims 1-30 are pending in the application.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 20-30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 20-22 and 24-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,385,376 to Bowers et al.

Referring to claims 20-22 and 24-30, the Bowers et al. reference discloses all the limitations of the claimed invention. The Bowers et al. reference discloses an optical cross connect electro-optic switching apparatus, comprising: a first planar layer comprising m optical paths (104); a second planar layer comprising n optical paths (106); and an optical switch comprising a plurality of optical switches (102), wherein the optical switches (102) permit optically coupling any optical path of the first planer layer with any optical path of the second planar layer, and control signals communicate to the optical switches to change the optical switches between a transparent state that permits signal transmission and an opaque state that prevents signal transmission. The Bowers et al. reference discloses the m optical paths (104) cross each of the n optical paths (106) to form a plurality of crossing points; wherein each optical switch is located at an associated crossing point between the first and second planar layers. The Bowers et al. reference discloses that each optical path (104) and (106) is formed within a selected layer of the first and second layers (A); wherein the selected optical path is disposed within a channel within one of the layers. The Bowers et al. reference discloses internally reflecting claddings surrounding each optical core medium. The Bowers et al. reference discloses the cross section perpendicular to the route of the selected optical paths (104 and 106) is substantially non-circular. The See Fig. 10-12 along with their respective portions of the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claim 23 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 6,385,376 to Bowers et al.

Referring to claim 23, the Bowers et al. reference discloses all the limitations of the claimed invention, except the Bowers et al. reference does not appear to specifically disclose that the optic switch array is a liquid crystal optical switch array. Liquid crystals are known in the art as a specific type of electro-optic switch using liquid crystal sandwiched in a thin layer between optical waveguides, where the liquid crystal experiences a change in state when a voltage is applied. Liquid crystal switches are known to be fast, efficient and reliable optical switches. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize liquid crystal as the electro-optic switching material within the Bowers et al. reference, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kevin S. Wood whose telephone number is (571) 272-2364. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday (7am - 5:30 pm).
